

Three paragraphs of interest. From CSW

Comprehensive Sexuality Education in disguise

69. The Commission recognizes the important role of digital health including digital health technologies, digital tools, telemedicine and mobile health, including to ensuring universal access to sexual and reproductive health-care services, including for family planning, information and education. It further recognizes the need to ensure that such technologies and tools are developed in consultation with women and as appropriate girls, and that they are science and evidence-based, while protecting personal information, including health information, doctor-patient confidentiality and prioritize consent and informed decision-making

The abortion paragraph

(p). Ensure universal access to sexual and reproductive health and reproductive rights, in accordance with CSW67 agreed conclusions 18 March 2023, 3:20am 20 the Programme of Action of the International Conference on Population and Development and the Beijing Platform for Action and the outcome documents of their review conferences, including universal access to sexual and reproductive health-care services, including for family planning, information and education and the integration of reproductive health into national strategies and programmes, and recognizing that the human rights of women include their right to have control over and decide freely and responsibly on all matters related to their sexuality, including sexual and reproductive health, free of coercion, discrimination and violence, as a contribution to the achievement of gender equality and the empowerment of women and the realization of their human rights, including in the context of innovation and technological change, and education in the digital age;

Very nice family paragraph

70. The Commission acknowledges women's and girls' critical contributions to their families and communities. It recognizes the importance of implementing family-friendly and family-oriented policies aimed at, inter alia, achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls and their enjoyment of all human rights in the context of innovation and technological change, and education in the digital age, and also recognizes the need to ensure that all digital policies and programmes are responsive to the changing needs and expectations of families in fulfilling their numerous functions and that the rights, capabilities and responsibilities of all family members are respected.