Preface

Dear Reader,

Light in the darkness

To begin with, a hopeful message, heard in the European Parliament in Brussels: “Silent night, holy night, Son of God, love's pure light, Radiant beams from Thy holy face, With the dawn of redeeming grace, Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth”. It was a bright spot for me in a world where I encounter a lot of darkness. If you read the articles later in this newsletter, that darkness will get a face. However, Jesus says, “I am the light of the world: he that followeth Me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life.”

Thanks

On behalf of CCI, I would like to thank you very much for your support over the past year, in whatever form it took. It is encouraging to see that it is increasingly recognized that the tide of forces that go against God's Word must be turned.

Review

A lot of work was done in the past quarter. Peter Smith attended the Third Committee at the UN in New York. Our employee in Africa and the undersigned were mainly committed to the EU-ACP treaty. At the time of writing, the trip to Trinidad & Tobago and Suriname has just been completed. There too we were allowed to warn at a high level about the dangers of the treaty. In addition, CCI was represented in numerous network meetings where it was given a platform to voice its support for life, family, freedom (of religion and education) and sovereignty.

A personal interview recently appeared in the GezinsGids (Family Magazine) that gives a good idea of our work and the motivations behind it. An interview also appeared in the RD with the title: Government must immediately stop sexual indoctrination.

Save the date

I would like to draw your attention to a number of meetings that we Deo Volente organize to explain, among other things, the work of CCI.

January 18: Public meeting in Sunnyside, Washington State, USA

January 23: Business/Public meeting in Chilliwack, British Columbia, Canada

January 30: Business/Public meeting in Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada

February 29: Business meeting in Kesteren, The Netherlands

March 28: Business meeting in Leerdam/Leerbroek with MEP Bert-Jan Ruissen and the Hungarian ambassador, The Netherlands

May 3: Meeting with Päivi Räsänen, The Netherlands

Blessing

We wish you a Blessed Christmas and a very prosperous and hopeful 2024!

On behalf of the CCI team,

Henk Jan van Schothorst

News from Africa (ACP)

EU-ACP treaty NOT signed by almost half of the countries

By: our Africa representative

Even though CCI was occupied during the 3rd quarter with the preparation of a lobby session against the EU-ACP Treaty within a planned Pan-African Parliament (PAP) meeting in Uganda, the PAP meeting itself was postponed indefinitely due to unforeseen events.

After years of stalemate within the EU, Poland and Hungary finally agreed last July after indemnifications for them, resulting in EU unanimity.

Since the signing ceremony of the EU-ACP Treaty was planned for 15 November quite suddenly in Samoa (Pacific), CCI increased its focus on awareness raising to convince countries to not sign the Treaty. One of the activities that was supported by CCI was a press conference given in Nigeria (who does not sign the treaty) to inform the decision makers and the general public about the dangerous clauses inside the Treaty. Another example was that CCI was a keynote speaker for the online Conference of the African Christian Professionals Forum (ACPF) where Henk Jan was able to lobby influential professionals from different African countries to inform their governments to not sign the Treaty.

After the signing ceremony of the Treaty took place, the word came out that 35 out of 79 ACP countries had not signed. However, because the EU and the OACPS Secretariat (an EU-funded representative of the ACP countries in this Treaty) severely pressured countries to still sign, a few countries signed after 15 November as well. An overview of the countries that did not sign until now can be found in the table below: 18 from the 48 African countries, 8 from the 16 Caribbean countries, and 5 from the 15 countries. The countries highlighted in yellow are the countries that were closely working with CCI to lobby against the Treaty.

Africa		Caribbean	Pacific
Benin	Mali	Antigua & Barbuda	Maldives
Botswana	Namibia	Bahamas	Palau
CAR	Nigeria	Cuba	Nauru
Equ. Guinea	Rwanda	Dominica	Tonga
Eswatini	Senegal	Guyana	Tuvalu
Ginea Bissau	Somalia	St. Kitts & Nevis
Liberia	Tanzania	St. Lucia
Madagascar	Uganda	Trinidad & Tobago
Malawi

Henk Jan met with the Suriname President and other Caribbean policy influencers

Since only half of the Caribbean countries did sign the Treaty (even in the case of Jamaica with a lot of reservations regarding SRHR), the EU and the OACPS Secretariat started to put much pressure on the remaining Caribbean countries to still sign. At the request of Trinidad & Tobago, Henk Jan therefore decided to travel to the Caribbean to support the countries that did not sign to stand firm against the pressure and to see opportunities to unsign for the countries that already did sign. According to our latest information, the EU needs two more countries to reach the required starting minimum for the Treaty to enter into force in 2024.

Henk Jan first went to the islands of Grenade and Trinidad & Tobago where he had intensive discussions with religious leaders, ministers and MPs. Trinidad has no intention of signing. Thereafter, he fly to Suriname to meet with the Surinamese President and his spiritual advisor. Even though Suriname already signed the Treaty, Henk was able to point out the dangers of the treaty with the EU. The President was shocked as he thought it was not that bad and that he could use his Presidential powers in case any conflict of interest occurs. Henk Jan told him that the Treaty gives all the power in the hands of the EU upon which the President immediately scheduled an appointment with the responsible of Foreign Affairs who had signed the Treaty on behalf of Suriname. Henk Jan thanked the President for his time and interest, to which he replied: "We have to thank you. God has sent you. Without Him we can do nothing." The President then asked Henk

Jan to conclude the meeting with prayer, which, besides commitment, dedication and quality, is the main foundation for the work of CCI.

News from the UN New York

United Nations – What is dangerous here ?

By: Peter Smith; he followed the 3rd Committee in November 2023

The UN was set up at the end of WW2 to prevent another world war. This was to include the Security Council who could decide to go to war as in Korea (1950) and against Iraq (1990).

The other main part of the UN is the General Assembly (G.A.) which consists of 192 countries. This has six functional committees:

1. Disarmament
2. Economic, Financial, Population
3. Social, Cultural , Humanitarian , Human Rights

4. Decolonisation
5. Administrative, budget
6. Legal issues

I have been following the 3rd Committee (3 Com) of the GA for nearly 30 years, as this is the most dangerous part of the UN for family and pro-life issues. This committee is at the forefront of the battle to make abortion a human right, and to promote LGBTQ+ issues. For a good summary of battles over the years go to:

<https://c-fam.org/event/the-history-of-pro-life-negotiations-at-the-un/>

Now the GA as well as 3 Com have a one country one vote system for any resolution. However, there was traditionally a system of consensus where if 3 or more delegations objected that wording was deleted. This system was abandoned at the 1994 Cairo Population Conference, by the Clinton Administration. Then two dozen countries would object, and they were told to post a reservation at the end of the meeting. This was the new consensus. There is rarely a vote at the UN except on very contentious issues.

I have just spent two weeks monitoring 3Com resolutions. There were 62 resolutions this session with 523 reservations or explanations of position. So, it is a sick joke to claim there is consensus at the UN on certain contentious issues. Many resolutions are adopted with no vote and no reservations, so you are looking at say two dozen objections to each of the bad resolutions.

There was the usual arguments on Sexual Health and Reproductive Rights. The pro-abortion countries wanting it even in the safe drinking water resolution and the pro-life countries saying there was no international right to abortion.

Then when the term gender (first introduced in 1995 at the Beijing women’s conference) was mentioned in a document the conservative countries , and as always the Holy See said it was just biological : male and female. The E.U. and the other “developed” countries like the term gender as a social construct. These latter countries were pushing the term “women in all their diversity”. A quick google search says this included transgender women (men pretending to be women).

One of the newer bits of bad language is “multiple and intersecting forms of discrimination.” To my mind this is the main plank of the woke, neo-Marxist philosophy that the world is full of oppressors and the oppressed. White straight me being the worst oppressors. And if you are for example a black lesbian with a limp you are the most oppressed and need lots of government assistance.

The most insidious and evil aspect of the UN is the leftist concept of developing customary international law. The oldest of these and good uses of it are diplomatic immunity. You must let an enemy ambassador into your country to negotiate a surrender. This type of law goes back to at least the ancient Greeks. But now some liberal law professors claim you can make customary international law just by repeating a vague concept in UN documents over a few decades. This is a very dangerous aspect of the UN in general and 3Com in particular. Many leftist Judges in many countries are trying this on to claim all sorts of rights. Such as the right to abortion, right to gay marriage, right to claim you are a different sex , etc.

On a positive note, there was a good resolution on the family, and this passed without a vote and only 4 countries objecting. There is a group of countries called Friends of the Family, a total of 25 members. Pray that more will join this group and that more countries will speak up for life and the family.

Growing Up in a Woke Society

By: John Van Der Brink

Our children occupy a place in society today which is completely unique. In a world in which morals are changing as fast as technology, we in our school community are trying to hold on to the Biblical values and moral principles that we have inherited from our forefathers. The gap between us and society is, in one sense, becoming wider and wider. While our children are being taught right from wrong, many are taught that there is no right and wrong. In place of traditional morals are homosexuality, gender fluidity, abortion, euthanasia, Black Lives Matter, atheism, evolutionism, transgenderism, drag queens, etc. The shock of one new development has hardly faded before something else happens.

What happens to our young people when they leave our homes and our schools? Sadly, we must acknowledge that some turn away. Why does that happen? There may be more than one reason, but it may be helpful for us as parents and for them as growing young people, to understand how we got to where we are today.

I believe the “wokism” and the other immoral practices we see today can be traced back to the 1950’s. Of course, in one sense it can be traced back to our deep Fall in Paradise where mankind has turned its back to God and rebelled against Him. But we are being “left go” today and there is a pattern and a pathway that marks that downhill trend.

Let’s look at the last 70 years and see if there is a pathway that shows how we got where we are today.

Not too many of us will remember life in the 1950’s, but some of you will have heard or studied that this was the decade of the Civil Rights Movement, the emergence of pop culture, and the beginning of the sexual revolution. There was great unrest and cultural upheaval stemming both from racial injustice and tumultuous uprisings. The mass media was beginning to sway public opinion, and traditional values related to sex were being challenged. There seemed to be a stirring in the air – a rejection of norms and a launching out into new thoughts and new ways.

The 1960s also brought about changes. Political activism became popular, group demonstrations were a growing means of expression, and rock and roll music was born. The spirit of autonomy was emerging. At the same time, America elected its first Roman Catholic president and we placed the first man on the moon. That same decade was characterized by the threat of communism and the assassination of JFK and his brother. A sense of alarm and uncertainty prevailed.

The 1970s added to the upheaval. This was the decade of the “me” generation – people were all about self-realization and self-fulfillment. This was also the decade of Roe v Wade when abortion became legal in all 50 states. Add to that the threat of nuclear war, the disillusionment with the government caused by the Nixon debacle and the dragging out of the War in Vietnam, and you have the makings of a cultural revolution.

These three decades laid the foundation for radical change in America. A sense of normalcy was disappearing. Man in America was breathing a new spirit of existence: traditions and standards are no longer authoritative; everything can be questioned and opposed.

The next several decades only added to the decay. Public school prayer was increasingly restricted and eventually forbidden, the teaching of Creationism was replaced by Evolution, abortion rights were more entrenched, even late into pregnancies, and institutional atheism was taking root. Political corruption and corporate greed abounded on every hand. Marriage and family were replaced by a focus on career and freedom from responsibility. Divorce for any reason or no reason became commonplace. In just a few decades, the emancipation from the Judeo-Christian culture was complete.

Today’s society encompasses all the anti-norms of the last 70 years. But it also embraces a new ideology. Wokism is a collection of anti-God, anti-norm, me-ism, and anti-standards. Anything you think, feel or desire is ok. Woke is an adjective derived from African-American Vernacular English – it means “alert to racial prejudice and discrimination”. The key words are “prejudice” and “discrimination”. Those two words are fed into a public mindset uncontrolled by standards and norms – and the result is chaos. Today in America, nothing seems to be shocking anymore. There seems to be just a continual wave of immorality and indecency.

So here we are in 2023. We live in a radically changed/divided society. Even the “world” sees society on the verge of – what? We and our students are living in THIS society. We are called to parent, to educate and to prepare our students to live in THIS society. What should we say to our young people about today’s culture?

- Identify and warn – try to point out the root of wokism, where it is unbiblical, show how to avoid it.
- Become active in opposing it. Feel the responsibility we have to our fellow man.
- Try to discern what is good and what is bad.

What does that mean in terms of what our young people are facing today – at college or in the workforce? It means that we ourselves need to be aware of what is happening in society. We need to know where ideas come from, the spirit that is behind them, how they conflict with Biblical standards, etc. We cannot afford to live in an isolated bubble.

We should also join or support organizations that oppose the wokism of today. There are people who have devoted their lives to promoting traditional values in America and around the world, and they should have our moral and financial support. Some examples are as follows.

- NJ Family Policy Center – legislation within a local state.
- Alliance Defending Freedom – broader scope, often defends Religious Freedoms.
- Christian Council International – tries to prevent these matters from developing worldwide.

It is also important to have discussions with our young people about how to approach the challenges they face. There are some people who simply get angry when they see what is happening in our society. But we should think deeper than that. What we see ultimately has its roots in our rebellion against God in Paradise. There we and our children declared war against God. And now we carry the same seeds of rebellion in our hearts as we see going on around us. Do we see today in society a reflection of our own hearts? Then our anger will turn to sadness – sad because we have brought these things upon ourselves. It will also make us prayerful – that God would send revival in our land. That seems impossible and improbable, but the Lord has ways and means to bring a nation, as well as individuals, to a place of bowing before Him.

Finally, we should be careful that our concern about these things does not “consume” us. It is possible to be overly concerned about cultural issues. There are young people who know all the sports figures and records. Others know a lot about movies and actors. Hopefully, we teach against all these things. But are we Cultural Junkies who know all the latest examples of wokism? Do we fret and fume about the latest story about Biden or Kamala Harris? Are we disgusted with the liberal spin of the media? Is that what is consuming our precious time of grace? Then our position spiritually is no better than those we oppose.

Change is rampant in the world today. It is almost as if we are being caught up in a swirl of rebellion, division, uncertainty, and fear. But there is one truth which is unchangeable. There is one thing needful despite all the confusion. We need to learn that we are poor sinners, that Christ is a rich Savior, and how the two come together.

May the Lord remember us and this rising generation for time and eternity.

Before he leaves for the enormous UN building on Hudson Bay in New York, Henk Jan van Schothorst falls to his knees in his budget -"it must all be as cheap as possible"- hostel. He does not know what to do. What should happen next with his lobby organization? When he gets up, he is a burden lighter. "It was no longer my business." However, by attaching LGBTI emancipation as an objective in the same breath, we see what really lies behind this policy. It seems to me like an institutional and ideologically charged agenda, pitting the creature against its Creator. With worrying consequences, such as worldwide sexual indoctrination of children in sovereign countries, to be enforced through new laws and treaties. Read more...

Christian Council International in a nutshell

LIFE

What's at stake:

The EU wants to standardize abortion laws, LGBT promotion and sexualizing education internationally, here in a binding trade treaty with a group of 79 African, Caribbean, and Pacific (ACP) countries, more than 1 billion people. But education and health are matters which belong to national competencies. By pressuring these nations, the EU is subverting sovereignty and Christian values.

What we do:

We alert key leaders in ACP countries and in the EU so that complying with this pressure is prevented. Freedom to enact own legislation must be preserved.

FAMILY

What's at stake:

Western countries are trying to use the UN to add a new term to categories protected by nondiscrimination policies. This term is "sexual orientation and gender identity" (SOGI). Proponents would like to define gender as a feeling, a self-chosen identity, and not as a biological distinction. This new gender ideology denies the Biblical creation order.

What we do:

We participate in public discussions at the UN and lobby for worldwide respect for Biblical directives on marriage and the family.

FREEDOM

What's at stake:

Freedom of education, of religion, and of speech is under increasing international pressure, especially in the EU and the United States. Finnish Christian politician Päivi Räsänen is on trial for inciting hatred because of her expressed Biblical views on homosexuality and marriage. In a similar vein, Hungary is also under attack over its child protection laws.

What we do:

We stand up and publicly defend these freedoms. We provide moral and informational support to individuals and countries under attack for their Christian beliefs and culture.

What we achieve:

ACP-EU Treaty

National Sovereignty Secured

1. Due partly to our efforts to alert EU and ACP member states about serious content problems, the signing of the EU-ACP Treaty has been delayed, already for 2 years.
2. We spoke in the European Parliament to identify problems that would result from passing the Treaty. We also drafted written questions for the European Commission to answer.
3. Through our African office, we supported ACP Members of Parliament by asking critical questions during the EU-ACP Parliamentary Assembly.

President of Malawi with Henk Jan van Schothorst

United Nations

Norm Creation Order Maintained

1. Through our consultative status, we bring a Christian voice to the United Nations meeting rooms and actively monitor the ongoing agenda.
2. We managed to work with supporters to keep sexual orientation, gender identity, sexualizing education, and LGBT promotion out of norm-setting resolutions.
3. We help to prevent abortion from becoming an international human right.

Mark Den Hollander
CCI US representative to UN

Hungary - Finland - USA

Defense of Christian Freedom Supported

1. By supporting Hungary's defense of Christian values, we help to prevent the EU from reaching European and international consensus on pro LGBTQ+ and gender ideology.
2. Through our support of the Finnish politician Päivi Räsänen, awareness has been raised in the EU and member states that the Bible is on trial.
3. With our CCI branch in the US, a policymaker network is being formed for the defense of freedom of education and of religion.
